Mr. Marsh took the following ground against the admission of Mr. Townshend's affidavit.

Mr. Marsh took the following ground against the admission of Mr. Townshend's affidavit.

1. That the motion pending to discharge Parot from custody could not be further heard, and that, of course, no additional affidavits could be read upon it, inasmuch as Parot was already out of custody, having been rescued by his own lawyers. That he had, therefore, no status in the court, and could not be heard on the motion at all.

2. That he ought not to be permitted to appear by his counsel, Messrs. Galbraith and Townshend, because they were in contempt for having rescued the presoner from the hands of the jailor. They had a motion to discharge Parot from custody, now pending, which admitted the propriety of his arrest, and that he could not be legally discharged unless by order of the court; yet they suddenly pinion the officer having him in custody, on a day when the police force of the city was in confusion, and secure his escape. This was a high-handed proceeding. Whether these gentlemen would be permitted to appear in any court after such an outrage as this against the process of the Supreme Court will be determined in another form of proceeding. But certainly they ought not to be permitted to appear here till they are purged of the contempt.

3. Besides, this additional affidavit ought not to be read, since one such permission had already been given since the reading of the affidavits against the motion. They ought not to be permitted to tinker their case forever.

4. The fact set up in the affidavit sought to be read is entirely immaterial—to wit, that Louis Grelet had departed from the United States. This action is in behalf of Parot; and whether the Sheriff let Grelet go, rightfully or wrongfully, or at all, has nothing to do with it.

What is stated at the end of the affidavit is not a fact, but only a conclusion, which the Court will not permit the defendant's counsel to swear to at this stage of the proceedings.

Judge Mitchell decided that he would receive the affidavit. Mr. March then said that if the affidavit.

COURT OF GENERAL SESSIONS - June 19. - Before SENTENCE OF RAGAN FOR VIOLATING THE QUABANTINE LAWS.

In conformity the order for adjournment yesterday afternoon, this Court opened this morning at 10 o'clock to hear the argument, on the motion of counsel for Ragan, convicted on violation of the Quaranthue laws, for arrest of judgment in this case. The junior counsel, associated with Mr. Van Bosen, omned the argument for the motion, and contended that this case. The junior counsel, associated with Mr. van Buren, opened the argument for the motion, and contended that the indictment was defective—that the defendant had been considered upon that, which upon the face of the indictment was no affense at all.

Mr. Hall replied in a few pertinent observations, saying that what had fallen from the learned gentleman was undoubtedly true in the abstract, but the only difference between them was, their inapplicability to the record of this case. Mr. Van Buren followed, contending mainly that the word invasion, as used in the first count of the indictment under which the defendant was convicted, implied that Ragan had entered the Quaratine limits by force, and no proof had been offered to support any such charge.

The Court denied the motion, for the reason, substantially that the indictment on its face designated with sufficient clear the indictment on the the offense charged.

r. Van Buren then rose and offered the Court some observain mitigation of the judgment about to be pronounced.

Mr. Van Buren then rose and offered the Court some observations in mittgation of the judgment about to be pronounced upon his client.

The Clerk then asked Ragan the usan question, if he had any thing to say why the sentence should not be pronounced upon him, and remaining silent the Recorder proceeded to address him as follows:

"You have been convicted of an offense, Ragan, which although in this particular case which the Jory have had under consideration, probably no evil has resulted; yet, at the same time, the law was passed for the purpose of preventing that very act of yours, from which evil might have resulted—an act of indiscretion on your part. In communicating with vessels, or in being in the vicinity of vessels infected, which this law was passed to protect, you might have been the means of spreading pestilence over the whole community; and the law is so precise on this subject for the purpose of guarding against the possihilly of results of that kind.

"Now it is in evidence that this auther that been common;

billy of results of that kind.

"Now it is in evidence that this kintter has been common; that the law has been habitually violated; and that parties have not been arrested for its violation; that for the last nine or ten mouths, though these things were constantly practiced by your self and others, still no measures were taken to prevent it. It has been submitted to the Jury whether that might not be considered as showing a license or rule of the Health Officer permitting you to go on in this course, and they have decided in the negative, and find you guilty of willfully invading the Quarantine anchorage grounds.

"It appears that you have been removed."

"It appears that you have been remonstrated with from time to time by the Health Officer, but you did not heed his remonstrances. How far his tacit permission to yourself and others amounts to a license is a question with which the Court has new nothing to do. It is sufficient that you are guilty of violating the law.

"I am awaye, as stated by your coursel, that in relation to those Quarantine regulations there is a great deal of excitencent. I am awaye that outrages have been perpetrated; that buildings belonging to the Quarantine have been perpetrated; that buildings belonging to the Quarantine have been burned down, and an attempt made to resist the law and break up the Quarantine alternpt made to resist the law and break up the Quarantine alternpt made to resist the law and break up the Quarantine alternpt made to resist the law and break up the Quarantine alternpt made to resist the law and break up the Quarantine alternpt made to resist the law for have resuld shrink you were one of these who took part in these riscous proceedings and in resisting the law. In that case it would be my duty to impose the full sentance of the law, for hereor would shrink from my duty to malutalith the laws in consequence of any popular accidement, no matter what the noutles might be. I should be recreant to every principle of duty if I should fail to enforce a law to its very extant against those who are attempting to violate and set acide the laws, because they do not themselves happen to approve of them. I should be zecreant to the public as a magnitate, if I did not protect the public peace by enforcing the law to its robust extent against those who are attempt made to a protect the public will be destroyed.

There was an active Stock market to-day, but prices still tend downward with a few exceptions. The bears continue to sell with freedom. The principal supporter of the market is an operator who is usually found upon the opposite side. It is an anomaly of the present condition of the street that while cash stock is very scarce, more especially Erie, Reading, Southern Michigan and New-York Central, the market still declines day by day. Any of these stocks can be lent without interest, and for Erie and Central ‡ ? cent has been paid for a day. Sellers, however, are freely found at an unusual difference on thirty and sixty day options. The inducement to short sales appears to be the falling off of receipts on railroads, and the impendency of a stringent money market, under the large specie drain. Eric opened at 32, and under sales of 8,000 shares fell off to 301, a decline of 1 F cent. Reading was also heavy, and closed at 71, after selling at 72. Central was rather steady, closing at 824 2824 Western shares were heavy. Michigan Southern sold down to 45. The new administration does appear to have inspired the public with renewed confidence, and it is apparent that some change is yet necessary before this stock can take its just position in the publec estimation. The most marked decline was in La Crosse, which was offered between the Boards as low as 65. At the Second Board it sold at 67, and after 68 was bid. There was an idle rumor in the street that the Company had sold 2,000 shares of stock to raise the funds for the payment of the dividend, but

Central sold in the morning at 133, but improved to 133. At the close the market was dull, and stocks generally offered below the registered price. The Exchange market has been inactive for the present packet, and for sterling the rates show a decline of about \(\frac{1}{4}\) \(\psi\) cent. The market is nominally 9\(\frac{1}{4}\) \(\phi\) cent, but it is difficult to sell leading bills at 9\(\frac{1}{4}\)

we have official authority for stating that the rumor is entirely groundless. The dividend just declared was

To London or Glasgow we did not learn of any engagements. Rosin at 1s. 6d.; 100 bbls. Oil at 2c. The money market is without important change, but the activity has increased and there is less disposition shown on the part of the banks to extend their loans. Bankers are calling in their loans to provide means for specie shipments. The ease in the market is much assisted by the accumulations here for the payment of the July dividends. The failure of the Railroad Company to pay the interest of the bonds, due on the 1st of June, at the Bank of America, New-York, has caused considerable feeling in Lafayette. The Money Market was neither dull nor brisk taday. The offerings in bank for discounts were large for the season, being, in the only bank for discounting to-day, about $\frac{4}{2}$00,000. It is conjectured that at least one-third of the sum was in paper maturing beyond January next. It is hardly reasonable to expect, at this advanced period in the season, that one bank alone should be called on for so heavy an amount of short discounts.

There is very little doing in the streets, and rates of interest were almost nominal, but to calculate closely, there is more demand for money that at this time last year, and rather more than can be met on obligations maturing within 90 days. A Western Railenan.—None of our Western railroads has more able, prudent and energetic management than the Chicago, St. Paul and Fond du Lac.

railroads has more able, prudent and energetic management than the Chicago, St. Paul and Fond du Lac. Although it was late in the Fall of 1856, before the road, on its completion to Janesville, perfected its Western connections, through the Racine and Beloit, and Milwaukee and Mississippi Railroads, and though it has since labored under the disadvantages common to all new roads, it has yet done a large and steadily increasing business. Running arrangements have been made by which passengers are taken without change of cars to Madison and Prairie du Chien, and freight is transported without transfer to all points on connecting roads.

The road is now well stocked and in excellent condition for business. Three passenger trains are running daily between Chicago and Beloit, Janesville, Madison and Prairie du Chien, and a large share of the travel for all points on the Mississippi river now takes this route. One daily freight train proves quite insufficient to accommodate the business, and a night freight train will be pat on during the present week.

The construction of the unfinished portion of the road and of its extension toward Lake Superior is rapidly progressing. Work commenced some time since on that portion of the line which lies between Janesville and the La Crosse junction, and the road is to be completed within the year. This will afford direct railroad communication between Chicago and Fond du Lac. The road is ready for the iron as far as Coshosh, and will soon be extended to Appleton. The direct railroad communication between Chicago and Fond du Lac. The road is ready for the iron as far as Oshkosh, and will soon be extended to Appleton. The greater portion of the trade and travel of these thriving cities will come to Chicago over this route.

During the past Winter the Company have prosecuted extensive and careful surveys for their Land Grant Railroad between Appleton and the State line. The Directors have matured plans for the extension to Marquette and Ontonagon, in the mineral districts of Lake Superior, and are about issuing a report and circular to the stockholders detailing their plan of operations.

and circular to the stockholders detailing their plan of operations.

This road covering a route so important—passing, as it does, through the richest iron and copper regions of the world, through extensive pineries, through fertile prairie lands and valleys, connecting Chicago, the emporium of the West, with the waters of Lake Superior and the flourishing cities and important the flourishing cities and important the flourishing cities and important the flourishing cities and decoded with a Superior and the noursing chas and important water-powers of Wisconsin, and endowed with a liberal and valuable grant of Government lands, can-not fail, under its present judicious management, to become as remunerative to its stockholders as it will important to the manufactures and trade cago. FLOUR AND MEAL-The 'demand for Western Canal

FLOUR AND MEAL—The demand for Western Canal is quite moderate, and with fier arrivals and liberal supplies in prospect, prices of the low and medium grades are 5c. lower on good superfine and low grades of Western extra; choice brands are well mistained, and are comparatively scarce; the inquiry is confined almost entirely to the home trade; the sales are 5000 bits, at $600 bits, of the indiana and lows; $6 500 $7 50 for common to good extra Ohio; $7.55 at $9.5 for proof to choice extra Ohio; $8.70 $9.5 for $1.0015 brands, and $7.500 $10 for extra Genesce. Canadian Flour is in quoderate request, and common brands are lower and nomi-

Buck.

SPELTER—The market is quiet at 7½ 7½ 7½. № fb for large and small parcels.

SPERMACETI is more inquired for for export; sales of 50,000 fb Refined at the East 4½ 7%, cash.

TEAS are quiet. Holders are very firm. The offerings are moderate, and prices demanded above the views of the trade.

TOBACCO—The market is generally dull, yet the feeling is more buoyant under advices from the West. The Kentucky crop is mostly in and a rapid falling off in the receipts at New Orienas is expected. Farmers have rushed in their crops this season in such a burry as to prevent a thorough drying of the leaf. The receipts here have been largely of common posted lugs, which are dull and tend downward, and have had the effect of depressing old common grades generally. Fine old and new crop is very firmly held, especially the former, which is scarce and wanted. The only sales are a few hids, for the Coast of Africa, and 163 cases Seedleaf at 152/254c.

TIN—The same inactivity previously noticed still continues, but price? have not, however, varied. Banca is scarce, and firmly held at the improvement, while Straits Tin is in large stock and difficult of sale, unless at low rates. Places are quiet at previous rates.

TALLOW—The inquiry is fair, and the stock is reduced; sales of 10,000 fbs prime at Hisc. cash.

WHISKY—The market is again lower, and closes rather unsettied; the demand is fair; sales of 600 bbls, at 314 2532c, for Ohio and Prison.

WHALEBONE—The demand is less animated, owing to the extreme prices asked, but holders continue very firm in their views.
